Local Jottings

The streets of our little town are undergoing their annual treatment of grading.

Mr. and Mrs. McQuito and family arrived in town this week and intend locating here for the summer.

A Grand Rally of all Red Cross workers will be held in the Methodist Church on Tuesday May 21st. Watch the papers for further particulars. Remember the date and keep it for the good work.

Miss Huberta McElnoes who is attending Mount Royal College, Calgary was home this week on a brief visit.

MARRIED—At the Methodist Church, Strathmore, on the 26th inst. by Rev. J. P. Berry, Benjamin L. Francis to Miss Elizabeth C. Scott, both of Majorville, Alta.

A monster Auction Sale and Bazaar will be held sometime in September in aid of the Red Cross Funds. If you have any thing that is a white elephant round your home keep it for this sale. Anything from a needle to a haystack.

Commencing with this issue we intend publishing a series of photographs of the talent which will appear here at the summer Chautauqua Festival in June. The photograph will appear in order in which the artists appear on the program.

The Red Cross Society are asking for old scrap iron, the same to be delivered to Mr Eve's implement yard for storage. Will everyone remember this on clean up days.

M. S. Hirtle, Builder and Contractor, a former resident of Strathmore has recently returned to make his home here. Mr. Hirtle will be glad to have you call on him when you contemplate building. Contracts or day work. Plans and estimates furnished on application. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Police Court.

SATURDAY: Before Messrs Vickery and Lambert.

E. Swartzbold was charged with a contravention of the Town By-Laws.

Mr J. J. Petrie appeared for the defence and Mr T. M. Wears prosecuted on behalf of the town.

(Mr Petrie raised an objection, which was noted by the Justice). F. R. Lilly, Town Clerk, produced By-Laws Nos. 30, and 53 covering the case.

Town Constable Crellin, sworn, stated he laid information against defendant for depositing manure on a lane at the back of his house. He notified defendant on the 20th to remove the refuse and he had warned him previous to that. Defendant said he would do so and he had removed part of it. There was about two loads remaining.

Cross-examined: His attention was drawn to it by a complaint from Mr Boertz. He had not seen defendant place any manure in the lane or cause any to be deposited there.

In answer to Mr Wears: The manure was practically up against the barn door.

Cross-examined: There were no other barns around. He could not swear that the manure came from this particular barn. Mr Boertz also used the barn, but witness had never seen him put any manure in the lane.

F. O. Boertz said defendant asked permission to put some horses in the barn. He had seven head in there at one time. An arrangement was made that defendant was to haul away the manure.

Cross-examined: Witness had cleaned out the barn and had placed the manure in the lane. He had never hauled away any. Defendant had hauled away some of the manure.

This concluded the case for the prosecution.

Mr Petrie said he would not offer any evidence as the prosecution had not proven his client had deposited or caused to be deposited any manure in the lane. From the evidence of one of the witnesses that he (Mr Boertz) had placed manure in the lane, and he did not see why his client should be charged with an offence which another party had freely admitted he had committed.

Mr Wears asked that the charge be sustained.

Mr Petrie asked for a ruling on his objection.

The Magistrates relied on and coming into Court stated the case must go on.

Defendant was then placed on the stand and stated he had never had more than five head in the barn at any one time. No arrangements had been made with Mr. Boertz as to hauling away the manure. Boertz had cleaned out the part of the barn occupied by him and had placed the manure in the lane but had never hauled any away.

Cross examined: He was not present of the barn.

The case was dismissed on the grounds that the case had not been proven.

A second charge was brought against defendant for allowing some colts to run at large, contrary to the Town By-Laws. Constable Crellin said he

Wife of the Minister of Labor.

May L. Cothens

When questioned regarding her views on compulsory labor, the others could not see any great benefit in it for the women. Too much machinery was used, and the women were beginning to feel a certain sense of moral obligation. They were not so much compelled as they had been before because they were compelled to. The high prices, however, were not the cause of the food conditions were abnormal. "You know," observed the wife of a minister of labor, "I am a pacifist and I don't want to see people sent to—and largely from force of arms. It's really nothing more than a tax on the women." Walloons, after a struggle surrendered to its claims for official equality, and in the period before the war that promised an era of happy co-operation. They were not, however, to be deceived by an invader. Unable to break their national spirit by terrorism Germany resorts to another method, and tries to win the loyalty of the Walloons by self-government and by showering on them favors denied to the Flemings. The Flemings, however, whom have taken the bait. Hence the reports of internal dissension, which need no doubt magnified by the Germans. The two races are bound together by precious historical ties and memories of a common past. The Flemings are proud of fraud—From the Toronto Globe.

The fact that Alberta attracts attention to the fact that the province is a farmer, that the premier of Alberta, three members of his cabinet, and the leader of the opposition are all farmers, and that the majority of the cabinet are likewise farmers. "As agriculture is the basic industry throughout western Canada," it observes, "this is not surprising." "More and more our country is becoming a farmer's country. The farmer will take his part in making the nation's laws and tariffs. And these westerners breathe the progressive spirit. One day a man from New York skilled in hunting in all big game countries, arrived at Leacholl station, on the C. P. R., with a pack of six powerful dogs. He was going after bear, and anything else that the Canadian Rockies had to offer. His guide knew the Kootenay country like his favorite book, and the prospects were bright for a big hunt. The bears were on the slides, the sheep and goats were working down and the elk were jumping in the

Two dead dogs and a wounded one was bad medicine for the hunting pack. The hunters doctored the injured one and in a few days it was able to take its place again. Then the men decided to make another try for the big goat. They took the dog who had been hurt and turned it loose, holding the others in leash. They climbed the heights. In an emerald gem of grass, flanked by the grey cliffs of the summits they first spied the white dots of the herd. The bullets. The dog crept nearer, the other dogs were loose, and still the goat sat helpless, his head armed with his needle-pointed daggers being still an active menace from which all the dogs sheered as they circled. Then the men came, and a merciful bullet put an end to the biggest mountain goat in the upper east Krotenays in the history of the guiding fraternity. Trapping Submarines

The Netting Process Proves to Be Very Effective

A submarine net is made of wire rope, about as thick as a lead pencil, the meshes are of great size, about ten to fifteen feet square. The net has floats on top that keep bobbing up and down like the float on a fish line and on the bottom are weights that keep the whole thing in a perpendicular position. The submarine cannot submerge to the great depths on account of the pressure—200 feet being about the limiting depth. It sails innocently along, therefore, until it makes its nose into the meshes. The net now trails along on both sides of the submarine's progress revealing the fact that something below is supplying the motive power. Perhaps the net suddenly stops; that means that the hidden submarine has stopped, its navigators having made the horrible discovery that they are trapped—or perhaps the net has become twisted in the propeller. Under these circumstances the wise submarine rises to the surface. It surrenders, becomes the property of the enemy, and its crew made prisoners. If it does not take such action one or two things will happen. The enemy will sink the submarine and the submarine comes up or if it starts moving, the enemy will follow until the inevitable capture.

Two names are added post-card: "Cuticura, Dept., N. Boston, U. S. A."

Won't Fight United States

Desertions From Bulgar Army Have Increased Since American Entry

If the truth were known, I think it might well transpire that, of all the Balkan peoples, the Bulgarians are the most impressed by the entry of America into the war. If all Bulgarian overseas emigrants, ten went to the United States to one to any other country, and in the exaggerated imaginations of these men and their families in America constituted just about all there was of importance in the whole outside world.

The awful significance of President Wilson's action could not possibly have spread very rapidly in Bulgaria, and yet even by the middle of May there had been a noticeable increase in the number of Bulgarians deserting to the British army on the Struma and Vardar, an increase which the intelligence officers had no difficulty in tracing directly to the entrance of America.

"It is a remarkable fact," a British officer engaged in interesting projects said to me, "that of recent Bulgarian deserters fully 15 per cent. have been in the United States one time or another, and their number is on the increase. These men ignore completely the technical fact that their country is not at war with the United States, and say simply that they do not want to fight most American soldiers."

These men say as soon as they had a chance to leave R. Freeman, the Popular Mechanic Magazine.

More Erasers Wanted
In 1914 Japan exported 9,000,000 best quality 1914 Erasers. The number increased to 16,000,000. What the showing will be for 1917 remains to be seen. Just at present, however, considering certain threatened alterations in the Japanese market, the world is particularly interested in Japan's capacity for turning out erasers—Christian Science Monitor.

IONIAN SERENADERS AT CHAUTAUQUA

MISS LUCAS-ADAMS

The Ionian serenaders are to give two concerts on the opening day. This splendid ensemble is made up of four young women who sing, read and play the violin, flute. Perhaps the most interesting feature of their program is the vocal of the accordion as a concert instrument. The accordion is an instrument that is always highly appreciated and is a favorite in the hands of these talented young players it becomes a veritable musical orchestra.

What the Y.M.C.A. Is Doing at Bramshott Camp

Although Bramshott Camp is situated in one of the prettiest spots in England, there is not a man there that is not glad to leave it. The camp has been in existence since the commencement of the war but very little has been done by the authorities to the lot of the soldier in training agreeable when he is off parade. Of course, every set of lines has its own wet caten, there is a public house, fully licensed named the "Seven Thorns" in the center of the camp and it is such places that the Canadian Soldier in the making has to go for warmth and such enjoyment that he can knock out of life. So long as he has the money he is a "good fellow" and welcome, but it is another thing when the cash has been spent across the bar.

The nearest village, Liphook, is about two miles from the southern limit of the camp, and when the soldier has walked there the only places where he is welcomed are the three or four hostilities that are in the village. Healers in the nearest town that is some four miles from Bramshott Camp. Even there very little has been done for the comfort of the soldier from overseas.

Some of the ladies of the town conduct a small refreshment counter totally inadequate for the number of men in the camp, and in fact the man who visits the town has to patronize one of the numerous bars.

There are also two ludicrously good picture houses and a dance hall.

Taken away from home and friends there is no one to guide the Canadians from the money pitfall which beset the soldier in camp, except the Y.M.C.A. and in Bramshott camp the Y. has three huts which will accommodate some three thousand men altogether. But what is accommodation for these thousand men in a camp that holds possible ten or twelve times that number.

Throughout the week a series of concerts are given in the huts, and really good concerts too, and it is no uncommon sight to see the hall packed, fully an hour before the concert is to start. To pass the period of waiting away, the Y.M.C.A. officer will climb onto the platform and lead the singing of the popular songs which every soldier knows by heart, and when the concert party arrives they will find the boys having a rare old time.

Some of the best known of the London artists give their services at these concerts, and often it is possible to hear several of the music hall favorites on the same night.

In addition to the concerts, services of prayer are held in the huts and during the time Captain R. Cameron of Toronto was conducting his lectures on "A faith for the firing line" the huts were literally packed as full as a sardine tin in popularly supposed to be. Not only were the huts full, but men sat on the rafters, and stood outside with their heads craned through the windows.

It was wonderful to see the influence Captain Cameron had on the men, and there were many soldiers who were not living Christian lives who attended every meeting at which he spoke in the Bramshott camp early in August.

In conclusion a word of praise must be said for the ladies who give their service in the Y. Content from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. many nights and stand to the many wants of the soldier. Coffee, tea, cocoa and such cakes and home made goods which he has left in response to the call to arms. There he can find rest, recreation and refreshment for mind and body, an abundant and free supply of stationery for the soldier the nearest possible approach under the circumstances to the home and friends which he has left in response to the call to arms. There he can find rest, recreation and refreshment for mind and body, an abundant and free supply of stationery for the soldier the nearest possible approach under the circumstances to the home and friends which he has left in response to the call to arms.

On a cold stormy winter night the boys appreciate the warmth and good cheer of the Y. out where they can obtain refreshments and the necessary privacy and envelope to write the letters the old folks back home in Canada look forward so eagerly to.

The ladies also work from 10 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Namaka Notes.

The U.F.W.A. will meet at the home of Mrs. Spurgeon on Saturday May 14th.

In aid of the Y.M.C.A. fund there will be an "Egg Show" on the 10th and 11th day of May. Any one wishing to help this splendid fund, who please take in on either of the above days as many eggs as they can spare. Mrs. C. Thompson, Namaka will take delivery. The eggs will be sold for cash and the money applied to the above fund.

Mrs. Bell and Mr. H. Schindler were Calgary visitors during the week.

Pie-Dog McBean has been discharged from hospital and is now at home with his parents.

THE TRIANGLE OF THE NEW TRIANGLE

What the Y.M.C.A. is Doing for Our Soldier Boys

By THOMAS LEWIS EDMONDS.

When, during the years 1914-1918, the Canadian Red Cross was in its infancy, the Y.M.C.A. was not only a source of help to the soldier, but it was also a source of help to the soldier's family.
